

The Israeli army ranks within the top ten in the world, but that comes at a cost. Nearly everyone is drafted into its armed forces, which is just one of the costs associated with a waning American presence, as outlined during Is America in Retreat?